

Item No. 2 Town of Atherton

CITY COUNCIL STAFF REPORT – STUDY SESSION

TO: HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

FROM: GEORGE RODERICKS, CITY MANAGER

DATE: FEBRUARY 4, 2015

SUBJECT: CHARTER CITY AD-HOC COMMITTEE DISCUSSION

RECOMMENDATION

Review and discuss the Charter City Ad-Hoc Committee.

BACKGROUND

In 2012, an ad-hoc committee was established to discuss the pros and cons of a charter city. The ad-hoc committee met and the City Attorney developed a memorandum on Charter City benefits which included a list of several pages that highlight some of the contrasting features of the two forms of governance – Charter City and General Law. The list is attached for review.

As advised at the January City Council meeting, the City Council should review the work of the ad-hoc committee; provide direction to the committee for future effort; and/or decide not to continue the work of the ad-hoc committee.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public notification was achieved by posting the agenda, with this agenda item being listed, at least 72 hours prior to the meeting in print and electronically. Information about the agenda item is also disseminated via the Town's Atherton Online electronic newsletter. There are approximately 1,200 subscribers to the Town's electronic News Flash publications. Subscribers include residents as well as stakeholders – to include, but be not limited to, media outlets, school districts, Menlo Park Fire District, service providers (water, power, and sewer), and regional elected officials.

MEMO FROM CITY ATTORNEY'S OFFICE

TO: City Manager

FROM: City Attorney

DATE: April 8, 2013

SUBJECT: Charter City Benefits

The fundamental distinction between a charter city and a general law city is simply the issue of whether or not “home rule” is better for a municipality or whether the governing laws should be those established by the State legislature.

The basic premise upon which charter cities function is that they possess supreme powers over “municipal affairs”, and in such matters the local agency can do anything that is constitutional and not a matter of statewide concern. Determining whether something is a municipal affair or a matter preempted by the state is made on a case-by-case basis by the courts, not the legislature.

It should be first noted that the charter acts as the city’s constitution and is said to operate as a limitation on powers, not a grant of them. In essence the municipality has authority over much of what it does, and the charter acts to constrain that power in ways that reflect local mores, values, and concepts of good government.

Both general law and charter cities share some of the same authority to regulate so-called “police powers” generally with respect to the public health, safety, morals, and general welfare of the community. However, the scope of these powers in charter cities is much greater, and those in general law cities can be totally constrained by the legislature in its infinite wisdom.

Where charter cities have greater authority with respect to home rule is in dealing with municipal affairs. The list is fluid and changes as charter cities expand their creation of local regulations, and I have attached several pages that highlight some of the contrasting features of the two forms of governance. Generally speaking, charter cities possess greater authority over such areas as municipal elections, procedures for initiative, referendum and recall, procedures for adoption of ordinances, compensation of officers and employees, procedures relating to city contracts, the financing of public improvements, the making of charitable gifts of public funds, establishing term limits for local officers, and in creating land use and zoning legislation although with many exceptions.

The areas where charter cities do not have plenary authority include school systems, traffic and vehicle regulation, sale of alcoholic beverages, licensing of members of a trade or profession, tort claims against government entities, open and public meeting regulations, and exercising the power of eminent domain. These are areas where the state has elected to occupy the field totally and preempt local control, but these are not areas that appear to be primary concerns for the Town of Atherton.

The issue of local control over local government is the basic distinction between the two types of city government. That said, it is important that the charter itself accurately reflect the pulse of the community. A charter that fails to provide citizens with effective and appropriate controls over their local legislative officials is doomed to failure; while one that protects local values while allowing the elected officials to govern based on community values will be well received and give the citizens a more effective and responsive government.

Obviously this is a very broad overview, and I leave you with the examples of some areas where differences have developed in the attached document from the League of CA Cities. I remain available if you have any questions.

Gov't Code § 3500) apply, but note, "[T]here is a clear distinction between the substance of a public employee labor issue and the procedure by which it is resolved. Thus there is no question that 'salaries of local employees of a charter city constitute municipal affairs and are not subject to general laws.'" Voters for Responsible Retirement v. Board of Supervisors, 8 Cal.4th 765, 781 (1994). Cannot require employees be residents of the city, but can require them to reside within a reasonable and specific distance of their place of employment. Public Contracts	Competitive bidding required for public works contracts over $5,000. Cal. Pub. Cont. Code § 20162. Such contracts must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Pub. Cont. Code § 20162. If city elects subject itself to uniform construction accounting procedures, less formal procedures may be available for contracts less than $100,000. See Cal. Pub. Cont. Code §§ 22000, 22032. Contracts for professional services such as private architectural, landscape architectural, engineering, environmental, land surveying, or construction management firms need not be competitively bid, but must be awarded on basis of demonstrated competence and professional qualifications necessary for the satisfactory performance of services. Cal. Gov't Code § 4526.	Not required to comply with bidding statutes provided the city charter or a city ordinance exempts the city from such statutes, and the subject matter of the bid constitutes a municipal affair. Pub. Cont. Code § 1100.7; see R & A Vending Services, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles, 172 Cal. App. 3d 1188 (1985); Howard Contracting, Inc. v. G.A. MacDonald Constr. Co., 71 Cal. Payment of Prevailing Wages	In general, prevailing wages must be paid on public works projects over $1,000. Cal. Lab. Code § 1771. Higher thresholds apply ($15,000 or $25,000) if the public entity has adopted a special labor compliance program. See Cal. Labor Code § 1771.5(a)-(c).	Historically, charter cities have not been bound by state law prevailing-wage requirements so long as the project is a municipal affair, and not one funded by state or federal grants. Vial v. City of San Diego, 122 Cal. App. 3d 346, 348 (1981). However, there is a growing trend on the part of the courts and the Legislature to expand the applicability of prevailing wages to charter cities under an analysis that argues that the payment of prevailing wages is a matter of statewide concern. The California Supreme Court currently has before them a case that will provide the opportunity to decide whether prevailing wage is a municipal affair or whether it has become a matter of statewide concern.
